INTRODUCTION

Your're invited to Viti-Culture by The Grape Vine Events Show Team

Join us for the 4th annual Viti-Culture Show on 10 June 2021 at Plumpton College, THE centre of Excellence in the UK for wine training, education and research!

Every year we are thrilled to return to this glorious location, glass of wine in hand, to mull over the last 12 months, and look forward to some exciting times for the English and Welsh Wine Industry to come.

We are also incredibly proud to host the only Annual UK Sabrage Tournament organised by Ferovinum which was introduced last year at very short notice and proved to be huge fun and a great success. Make sure you 'pop' into the Sabrage Marquee to see the corks fly again this year!

We have been taken aback at the level of enthusiasm and support from all corners of UK and beyond at the continued growth and development of Viti-Culture LIVE, the first dedicated industry show of its kind, and would like to take this opportunity to thank all our many exhibitors - new and old, supporters and friends within the industry.

We all recognise that this is a crucial as well as an exciting time for the UK Wine Industry. The ethos of Viti-Culture has always been to bring visitors and exhibitors together, to research, innovate and develop products, services and technologies across the industry and to future-proof their businesses while remaining efficient and profitable through some tricky times ahead - something that can only be done by using the latest innovative and smart technologies adapted to meet the local conditions.

Finally, thank you to our marvellous hosts Plumpton College and our Sponsors – CLM, NFU Mutual, Ferovinum, and Kreston Reeves for all their support over the past four years, and for years to come.

We very much hope you will come and enjoy the day with us!

Cheers!

The Viti-Culture Team

OZ CLARKE, OBE OUR SHOW PATRON

When Plumpton College opens its gates and welcomes us in to celebrate Viticulture 2022, it's a sure sign that summer is on its way. And, nestled beneath the South Downs, there's no better place than Plumpton to raise a glass to the good times returning, and the chance of yet another fabulous vintage for English Wine.

The last couple of years have been tough. Hospitality has been hammered, businesses threatened, livelihoods swept away. But the Covid crisis has also spurred many of us involved in English Wine to re-think how we produce and sell our wines, how we find our customers, what we offer them, what relationships we can develop.

This has been a mighty challenge, but it should result in a doughty and rapidly-growing band of English Wine enthusiasts who are much more loyal and much more involved with our vineyards and wineries than they ever were before.

The mood of our times is now to buy local whenever we can, to ask for authenticity, traceability, and sustainability in what we eat and drink. English Wine is in a unique and brilliant position to provide that. And Viticulture 2022 is here to help, the Plumpton grounds packed with all the most important suppliers of just about everything you could need for whatever part of English Wine you are connected with.

Enjoy the day.

Enjoy Plumpton.

Enjoy England at its most glorious in the heart of Sussex.

SEMINAR PROGRAMME

8.30am Kreston Reeves Breakfast

With keynote speakers from WineGB

The Wine Industry of Great Britain: How WineGB is shaping the future

“It is a tremendously exciting time for the wine production industry in Great Britain as it continues to go from strength to strength. More vineyards are planted each year and there is an ever-growing level of awareness and sales of Britain’s high-quality wines on the high street, online and from the cellar door. Forecasts suggest that vineyards and winemaking will continue to be one of the fastest-growing agricultural sectors in the UK and will deliver significant economic benefits to the rural economy.

Managing this exceptional growth and securing a sustainable and profitable future for everyone involved is the role of the national organisation, working with members of all sizes and with Government to plan for the future and help expand businesses over the long-term.

WineGB’s CEO, Simon Thorpe MW, will set the scene by outlining the critical role that the industry body is playing. This includes outlining the industry’s key strategic priorities: Wine Excellence, Leadership, Sustainability, Exports and Wine Tourism and all the activity that WineGB is leading on in order to achieve the industry’s long term goals.”

HEADLINE SEMINAR

MIDDAY HEADLINE SEMINAR

The headline seminar this year will be presented by Ridgeview Wine Estate vineyard manager Matthew Strugnell with Stephen Skelton MW, Richard Bampfield MW and Jo Cowderey. They will be tackling a variety of topics making this a session not to be missed by anyone in the industry looking to hear from very exceptional experience.

Matt Strugnell, Vineyard Manager at Ridgeview

Matt was one of the first Plumpton wine graduates, and is now the vineyard manager at Ridgeview.

After secondary school, Matt's obsession for the weather fuelled his ambition to be a weather man. That was not to be; instead he followed his father's footsteps and studied construction for three years, then worked in a printed circuit board company for eight years as a machine operator. He then decided to go to Australia and visit a friend, and spent a year backpacking, where he found himself working in vineyards in Clare Valley and Murray River. When he returned to England he enrolled at Plumpton College to study wine, where he was taught by Chris Foss and Kevin Sutherland, who was vineyard manager at the time. Matt worked hard, put in extra time working in the vineyards during the summer and became Kevin's right hand man. When he successfully completed his Higher National Diploma, he was taken on by Ridgeview as their vineyard manager.

When asked to describe a typical day at work, Matt's response was that this was dependant on the time of year, and he gave us a rundown of a typical day in the growing season. This would see him up at 7.30 in the morning, checking his emails and work schedule, and a typical week could be split between spraying for one day, trimming vines for two days and visiting contract growers. Matt described his 'middle man' role between the contract growers and the winery, where he reports to the winemaking team on how much fruit to expect, and when it will arrive. Asked what he find best about his job, Matt's response was the end product and the demonstration of its quality through good reviews or winning awards, or even seeing it on the supermarket shelves. The things he hates most is the risk of spring frost and the six-week embargo on planning anything with his family that it brings. The most surprising thing was plant and machinery driving. He once dug a road trench for a phone cable, on the premise that if you can drive a tractor you can drive a digger!

Matt has recently taken on the role of Chair of the WineGB Viticulture working group. He currently lives in West Sussex with his partner Alex, also a vineyard manager. He and his daughter enjoy going out on Geocaching expeditions; he also dabbles in astronomy and guitar playing.

HEADLINE SEMINAR

Stephen Skelton MW

Stephen Skelton has been involved with growing vines and making wine since 1975. He spent two years in Germany, working at Schloss Schönborn in the Rheingau and studying at Geisenheim, the world renowned college of winegrowing and winemaking, with the late Professor Helmut Becker. In 1977 he returned to the UK to establish the vineyards at Tenterden in Kent (now the home of the UK's largest wine producer, Chapel Down Wines), and made wine there for 22 consecutive vintages. From 1988 to 1991 he was also winemaker and general manager at Lamberhurst Vineyards, at that time the largest winery in the UK. Wines Stephen made won the Gore-Browne Trophy, the award given to the English and Welsh Wine of the Year in 1981, 1990 and 1991. He now works as a consultant to vineyards and wineries in the UK and has helped set up many vineyards for the production of both still and sparkling wines.

In 1986 Stephen started writing and lecturing about wine and has contributed articles to many different publications. In 1989 he wrote (and published) his first book, 'The Vineyards of England' and in 2001 his second, 'The Wines of Britain and Ireland' (Faber and Faber) which won the André Simon Award for Drinks Book of the Year. In 2007 he wrote and published 'Viticulture – A guide to commercial grape growing for wine production' which is recommended by both the Institute of Masters of Wine and the Wine and Spirit Education Trust (WSET) for their students. It has now sold over 15,000 copies world-wide and has been translated into Japanese and Chinese. He has written and published several editions of the UK Vineyards Guide and in 2014 wrote and published 'Wine Growing in Great Britain, a complete guide to growing grapes for wine production in cool climates' which is helping growers, both in the UK and cool climates overseas, get to grips with the practicalities, both economic and viticultural, of establishing their vineyards. This book was completely revised and updated in 2020.

In 2003 Stephen became a member of the Institute of Masters of Wine (IMW), winning the prestigious Robert Mondavi Trophy for gaining the highest marks in the Theory section of the examination and in 2005 he won the AXA Millésimes Communicator of the Year Award for services to the MW education programme. He served on the MW Education Committee from 2003 – 2009 and was the education course wine coordinator. In 2009 he was elected to the Council of the Institute of Masters of Wine and in 2014 became the Deputy Vice Chairman of the IMW. He served on the Council until 2018. In 2014 he was appointed to be Chair of the IMW Research Paper examining panel, a position he held until 2021.

Stephen has judged wines for the International Wine Challenge, the International Wine and Spirit Competition, the Japan Wine Challenge and the Veritas Wine Awards. He was Panel Chairman for the English and Welsh wines for the Decanter World Wine Awards between 2009 and 2021.

After 30 years living and working in Kent, he moved to London in 2000 and now lives in Fulham. His three children, and four grandchildren, all live in far flung parts of the world: New York, Hawaii and Dallas. When not involved in one way or another with vines and wines, he is to be found playing as much bridge as possible.

HEADLINE SEMINAR

Richard Bampfield MW

Richard graduated in French from Cambridge in 1981 and immediately decided the wine trade was where he could put the language to best use. He managed retail wine shops in the North West of England for JW Less Brewers for 7 years, then spent a year getting his hands dirty in vineyards around the world, also working in wine cellars in California and Australia.

Having passed the Master of Wine Exam in 1990, he joined the Australian producer, Brown Brothers and managed their European Operations until 1999. He left them to set up his own company, specialising in public relations and offering wine talks, tours and courses. Principal clients include Lidl, Albert Bichot (Burgundy), Leith's School of Food and Wine, Santa Rita (Chile) and Chateau Brown. He is also a partner in Wine Ring, the leading personalisation software for the wines and spirits industry.

Richard is a past Chairman of the Association of Wine Educators and was European Champagne Ambassador 2009.

Jo Cowdery

Jo has a wealth of sector knowledge and experience spanning some 30 years, both in the UK and France, starting in the 1980's at her husband's family vineyard in Sussex. With a background in journalism, she was editor of Vineyard magazine, but has also worked in sales and marketing, exports, training, and teaching - as well as having plenty of practical production experience.

Jo has a BSc (hons) in Agriculture from London University's Wye College and holds the WSET level 4 diploma. Jo was responsible for setting up and delivering the very successful Defra funded WineSkills wine industry training programme from 2010-2015, while part of the teaching team at Plumpton College's wine division. Jo was also WineGB's Operations Manager which further expanded her unique position in, and her experience of, the UK wine sector.
